

Thoughtfully amenitized parks are planned for all phases of Painted Prairie. Everywhere you wander throughout the enticing streetscapes of the neighborhood, you'll encounter parks tucked amongst beautiful homes. In Phase II, street-adjacent linear parks and pocket parks will provide numerous unexpected green spaces to relax, gather and enjoy nature.

Painted Prairie's network of parks will also connect residents to the urban vibe of the 55-acre Town Center, featuring Treehouse Park, an upscale leisure oasis where neighbors will gather to enjoy live music, shop the stalls at the seasonal farmer's market, enjoy outdoor festivals, and connect with the community at exciting events.

TREEHOUSE PARK

Tree House Park will be the centerpiece of Town Center, currently in the works. This innovative oasis will not only provide visitors with greenspace and urban plazas but will also incorporate art, creative lighting, food, beverage, entertainment and event spaces. The one-of-a-kind tree house at its center will be an interactive marvel with open multi-level architecture and engaging gathering spaces.

PIONEER PARK & PRAIRIE PAWS PARK

Let the pups run and romp at Painted Prairie's actively appointed future dog park. Pioneer Park hosts a proposed future Aurora Public School site including sports fields and ample additional park amenities to explore.

WILD & SUSTAINABLE

Painted Prairie was developed not to recreate the natural environment, but to accentuate it. Native, drought tolerant grasses lend their color to the landscape, requiring minimal irrigation, fertilizers, and maintenance to thrive. Similarly, residents are encouraged to embrace xeriscaping, a style of landscaping that requires little or no irrigation.

HIGH PRAIRIE PARK

Carefully curated neighborhood gathering places, The Great Lawn, play structures, community gardens and specially created Urban Pivots provide plenty of room to explore throughout 22 acres. Painted Prairie's High Prairie Park integrates sweeping mountain vistas, city skyline, prairie dunes, arroyos and a bluff landform we call Sunset Ridge.

Sunset Ridge Promenade & Indian Paintbrush Gardens

The Promenade features shade pavilions, a lofted sand beach, two-sided community art wall, a sledding hill and three ski chair swings facing Colorado's most impressive peaks. Its variety of interactive features are designed to attract people to play together, enjoy solitude, and encourage roaming and exploration, all celebrating what it means to live on the prairie and play in nature. The Promenade's incredible views and unbelievable skylines demand our attention. Indian Paintbrush Gardens were created for harvesting the fruits of your labor from your personal garden plot and the community orchards in the fall.

The Fort, The Gamble Ropes & The Lincoln Logs

Whimsy and adventure thrive here. These playgrounds were designed to embrace the sense of wonder, imagination, and growth that transcends into the development of a child... enlivening movement, fitness, mental acuity, and the purity of just having fun. Constructed by Beanstalk Builders, the play structures themselves evoke images of a simpler time, when adults and kids were free to explore.

The Urban Pivots and The Red Tail

A system of Urban Pivots captures the graphic tapestry of our agrarian landscape, with hopes of harvesting laughter, family time and the fruits of a tight-knit community. From your airplane seat you've seen the prairie, and noticed the perfectly round, green panels that dot the brown plains and signal irrigated farmland. The Urban Pivots emulate that motif through a series of pivot circle gardens, lawns, and the shade pavilion named for the prairie's red tail hawk - offering all sorts of both quiet and playful areas to explore.

Butterfly Landing, Prairie Waves & The Orchard

In honor of the western prairie's natural beauty, these gardens are dedicated to discovery. Butterfly landing is designed to mimic the shape of a Prairie Skipper Butterfly wing. In collaboration with the Butterfly Pavilion in Westminster, the garden is consciously planted to help attract butterflies — species like Gaillardia, Butterfly Bush, Yarrow, Echinacea, and Prairie Zinnia — with easy access for kids and adults.

The Arroyo

Immerse yourself in a microworld of the pioneer's prairie. The Arroyo was designed to capture and honor the erosive nature of water and how this element has carved its way throughout the prairie landscape. Each detail is deliberately presented to encourage discovery and ignite the imagination of children and adults alike. This space is so special that it inspired a poem about prairie arroyos which is monumented at the overlook. Descending 12 feet below the promenade, the Arroyo is packed full of native Gambel oaks, sandstone slopes, and two custom concrete slides. It provides a chance for kids to go wild outside! The Arroyo is a place destined to be your favorite spot at Painted Prairie. Just north of The Arroyo at The Beach, Adirondack Chairs a spot to relax and take in mountain views.

LILAC PARK

A quiet spot designed to be an extension of your own backyard, Lilac Park is the perfect place to take a break on the expansive lawn, or plant your own garden in the Columbine Community Garden while the kids play.

PERIWINKLE PARK

Periwinkle Park honors the prairie upon which it was built, while foretelling the future of what the prairie will become in the years ahead. Perfectly positioned tables and chairs offer a place to pause and take in the best westward views of the mountains of any park along the Front Range, while families gather for BBQs and impromptu games of tag and bean bag toss. Four seasons of color enhance the long garden paths.

MULBERRY PARK

In the summer, native grasses, flowers and butterflies converge upon this small pocket park. This park provides shade, and room to roam and play among the botanical gardens, offering a much-needed nature break for residents.

AMBER PARK

Amber Park provides an opportunity for quiet reflection while maintaining a connection with the natural environment through an abundant botanical garden amongst an undulating landscape.

PLUM PARK

Situated on Painted Prairie's original Quarter-Mile Pivot, Plum Park is ripe with tradition and possibilities. Pick your own fruit or relax under the trees where you are reminded of the agrarian roots that Painted Prairie was built upon. Plum Park is one of the many pocket parks planted with fruit trees for residents to enjoy.

LAVENDER PARK

One of the roomier corner parks, Lavender Park offers numerous play and gathering spaces defined by colorful plantings and landscape renditions of the Urban Pivots.

PICADILLY TRAIL

Getting around Painted Prairie is easy. Connected to the bike paths and sidewalks you'll find throughout the community, Picadilly Trail offers a scenic walk, a beautiful bike ride, or a quiet afternoon stroll under a bluebird sky.
